馬加烈李姑娘粵語解釋 (每逢星期一、三、六晚六時中至六時四十五分)

香港無線電合最近新設一項英語講話教授,每遙星期一、三、大 下午六時三十分至六時四十五分廣播,初學英語甚至有相當程度對 ·如能經常用心細聽 · 必有神 註 。 茲特逐次将其課程刊登外 · 其屬 於會話句語,另加中文播譯,俾初學者易於了解。 SOME PREPOSITIONS: TO AND FROM 去 吳 自 調話時的用类

The BEC brings you ENGLISH by RADIO. To, from. To, from. These two! words are prepositions. To, from (tu:,from). Those are the 'strong' forms. That's how we say the words when they're stressed. Or when we say them alone - not in a phrase or a sen-They also have weak forms. The weak forms are used in unstressed positions, and are much more often heard, in ordinary connected speech, than the strong forms. Listen now to examples of (to) and (from) in sentences. First, stressed. Was he going (to) town or coming (from) town? Was he going (tr) town or coming (from) town? 他是到城襄去還是從城中來? Those were the strong forms. The words (to) and (from)

were stressed. Let's have another example. where are you going to? where are you going to? 你到那挺去?

Did you hear any difference? The vowel in (to) was shorter. If was an 'oo' (u) sound, but shorter. It was not the strong form but a weak form. Let's have some more examples. He wanted to ask me something. He lives near to us. He pointed to another picture.

他要問我一些事情· 他住在我們附近, 他指住別一福聲· In each case the word (10) was followed by a (vowel) sound. To ask, to us, to another. Now listen to the second weak form: (to) followed by a consonant sound. He's going to London 他到倫敦去。

He's going to London ... to London ... to London. Let's have some more examples. To come, to go, to see, to hear. In all these cases the word (to) was pronounced - - the last syllable of (theatre), (carter), (starter). That's the weak form. Now please, say the word (to) with the verbs (win), (work), (want), (wish.). Again please. To win, to work, to want, to wish. If (to) comes before a word beginning with a (u) sound, the weak form with a short 'oo' (u) is used. If it comes before a word beginning with other consonants, the weak form (to) is used. To come, to go, to see, to hear. If (to)comes at the end of a sentence, the weak form with short 'oo'(u) is used. where are you going to? 你到那裡去? Now let's have some examples of (from). First the strong form

Where did you get it from (.... from)? where does he come. from (... from)? When (from) comes at the end of a sentence, the strong form must be used. And now the weak, or unstressed form:

He comes from London. I got it from paris. 他從倫敦來・ 我從巴黎得來的· Again please.

... from London, ... from London; ... from Paris, ... from Paris, If (from) is followed by a personal pronoun, for example, (him), (her), (them), and this pronoun is unstressed, the strong form is used, Let's have an example. I got it from him yesterday. 昨天我從他得到的· In that sentence the strong form was used. Listen again. I got it from him yesterday,

昨天我從他得到的。
